

Christmas tracing lines

Take the present to the tree, the sled to the house, the snowflake to the snowman and the star to the tree. Start at the brown dot and follow the gray path.

Tip for parents: Let the child trace each path with a finger first and say who is going where. Then the crayon. Leaving the path is fine – what matters is getting all the way to the picture at the end.

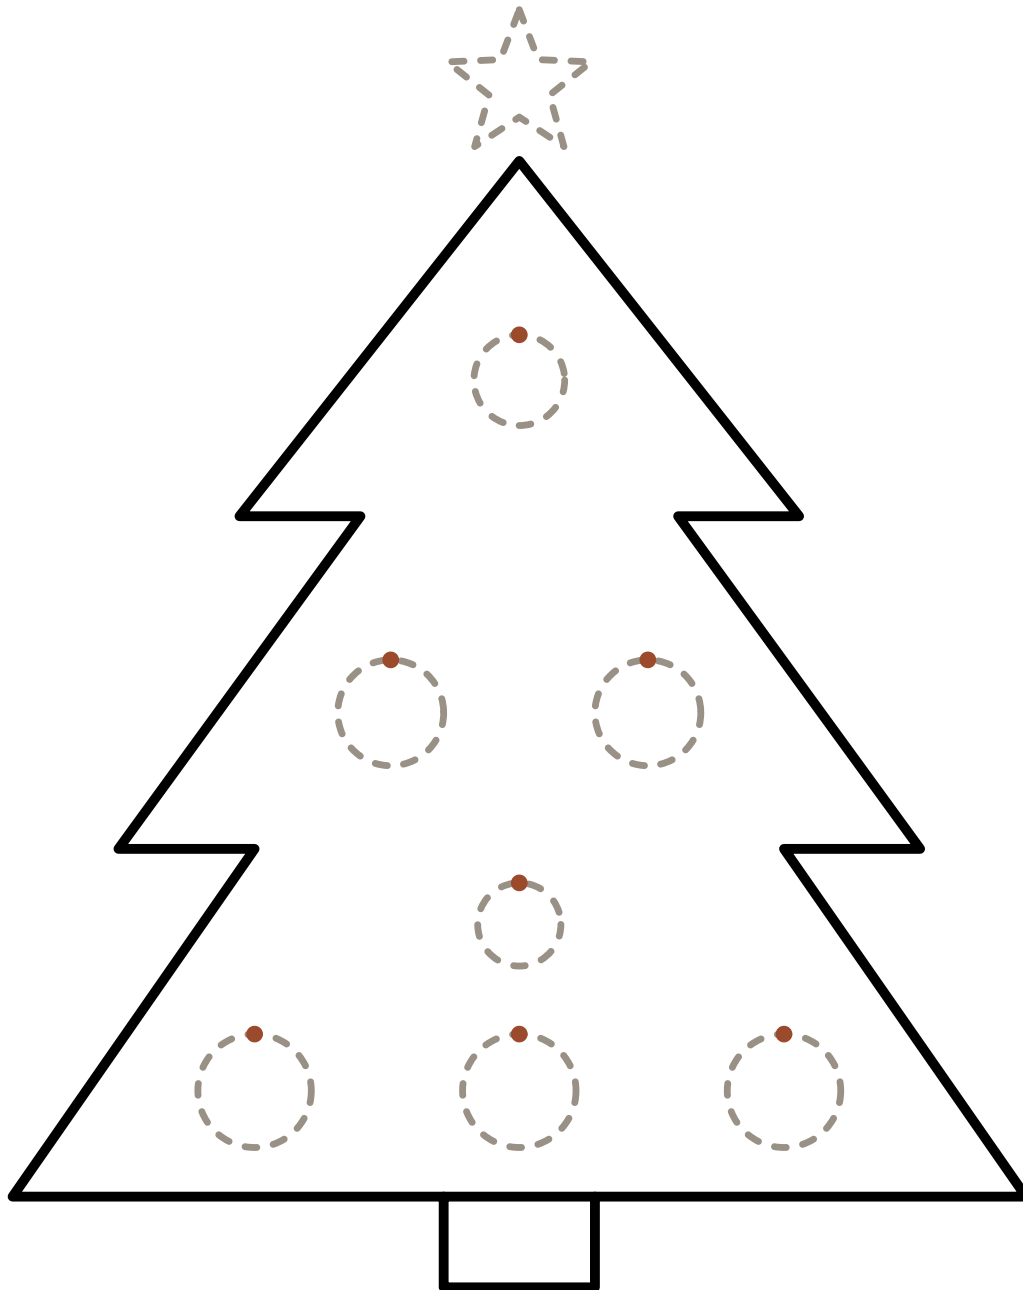

Decorate the Christmas tree

Trace the ornaments on the tree and the star on top. Then color the tree and draw more ornaments.

Tip for parents: It's fine if a circle isn't round or closed. Show the movement in the air first: "round we go, back to where we started". Leave the coloring for another time if attention runs out.

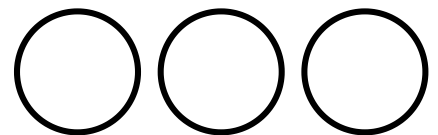

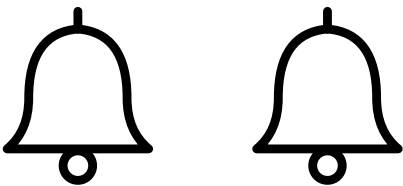

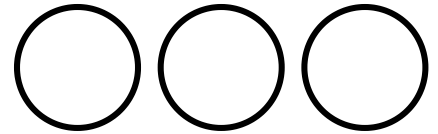

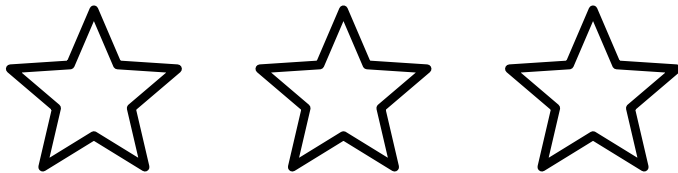

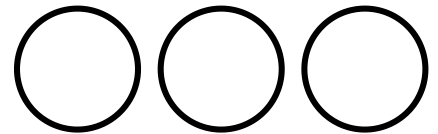

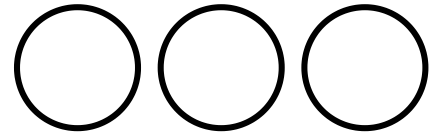

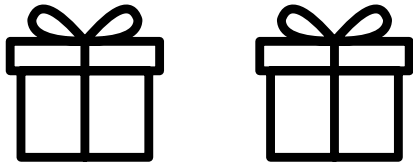

Christmas counting to 3

Count the pictures in the box. Color as many circles as there are pictures.

Tip for parents: Count out loud and stop a finger on each picture. The child can color the circles or put buttons or raisins on them – it's about the number, not the crayon.

Christmas matching pairs

In every row two pictures are the same. Find them and circle them. Then color them the same color.

Tip for parents: Cover the rows you aren't working on with a piece of paper. Ask "what's in the first picture?" and let the child name them – vocabulary comes along for free.
