

Hard maze: bear and apples

Take the bear to the basket. Collect three apples on the way and don't cross the black lines.

Recommended age: 6–8 years • mazes

Name _____

Date _____

The bear collects apples into the basket. Collect three apples on the way.

Tip for parents: Let the child find the whole route with their eyes before drawing anything. If they get stuck, point at the apples – they work as checkpoints. A pencil with an eraser beats a crayon here.

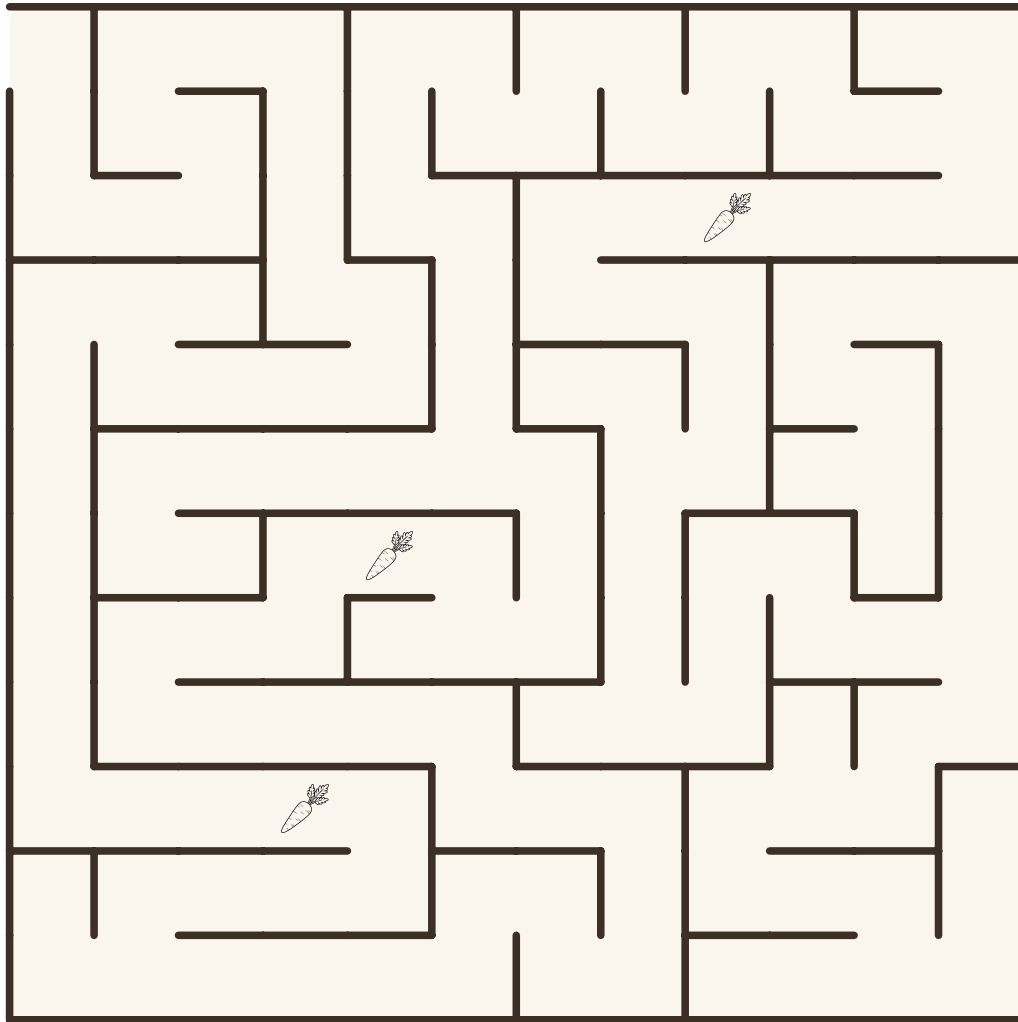

Hard maze: the rabbit goes home

Take the rabbit home. Collect three carrots on the way and don't cross the black lines.

Recommended age: 6–8 years · mazes

Name _____

Date _____

The rabbit is going home. Collect three carrots on the way.

Tip for parents: Give the child two colours: one for trying routes, one for the final way. The dead ends are long here, so it pays to search with a finger first. Allow 10–15 minutes for one sheet.

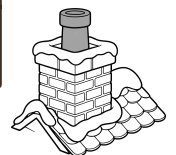

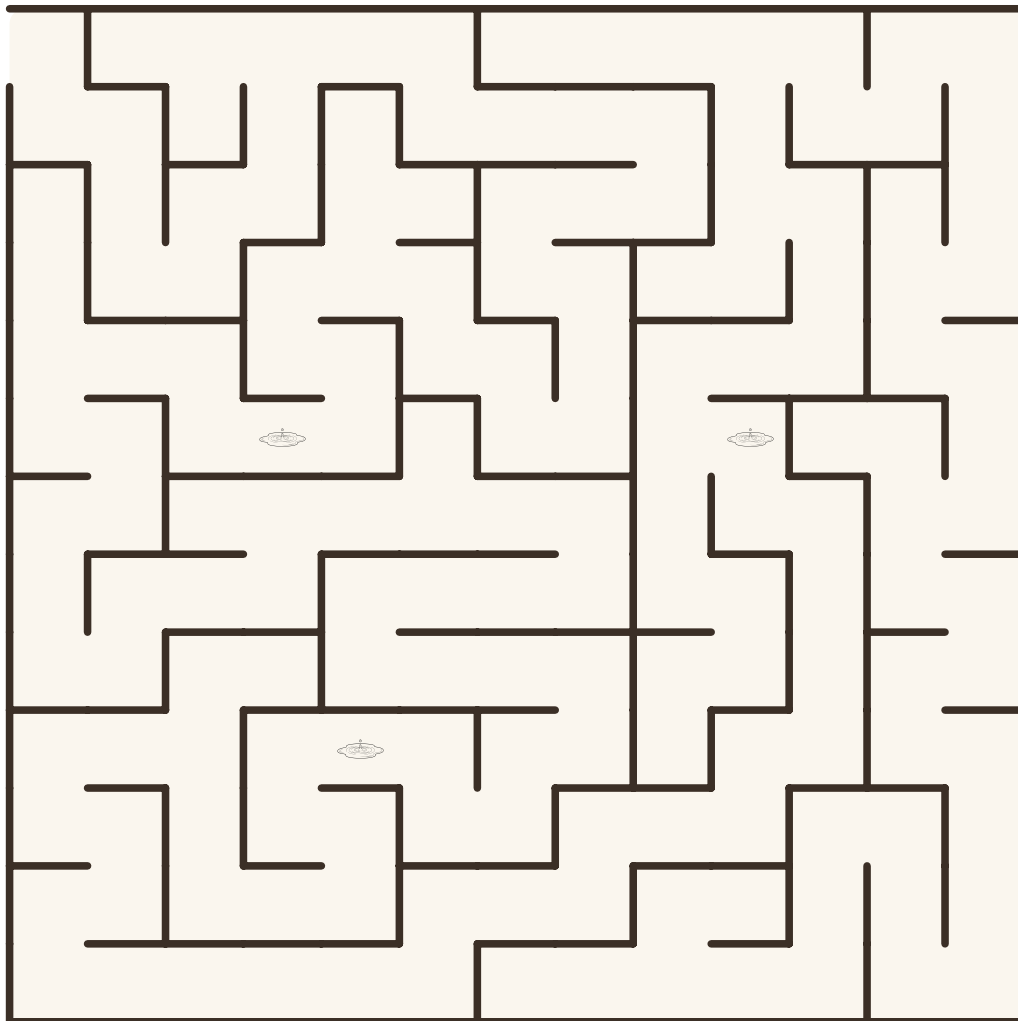

Hardest maze: fire truck and house

Take the fire truck to the house. Take on water at three puddles and don't cross the black lines.

Recommended age: 6–8 years · mazes

Name _____

The fire truck drives to the house. Take on water at three puddles on the way.

Tip for parents: Don't hand this one to a preschooler, it will only put them off. For a first or second grader it is a good challenge: let them find the way entirely alone and don't rush them. If they lose track, have them start at the finish and work backwards.

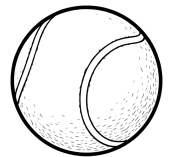

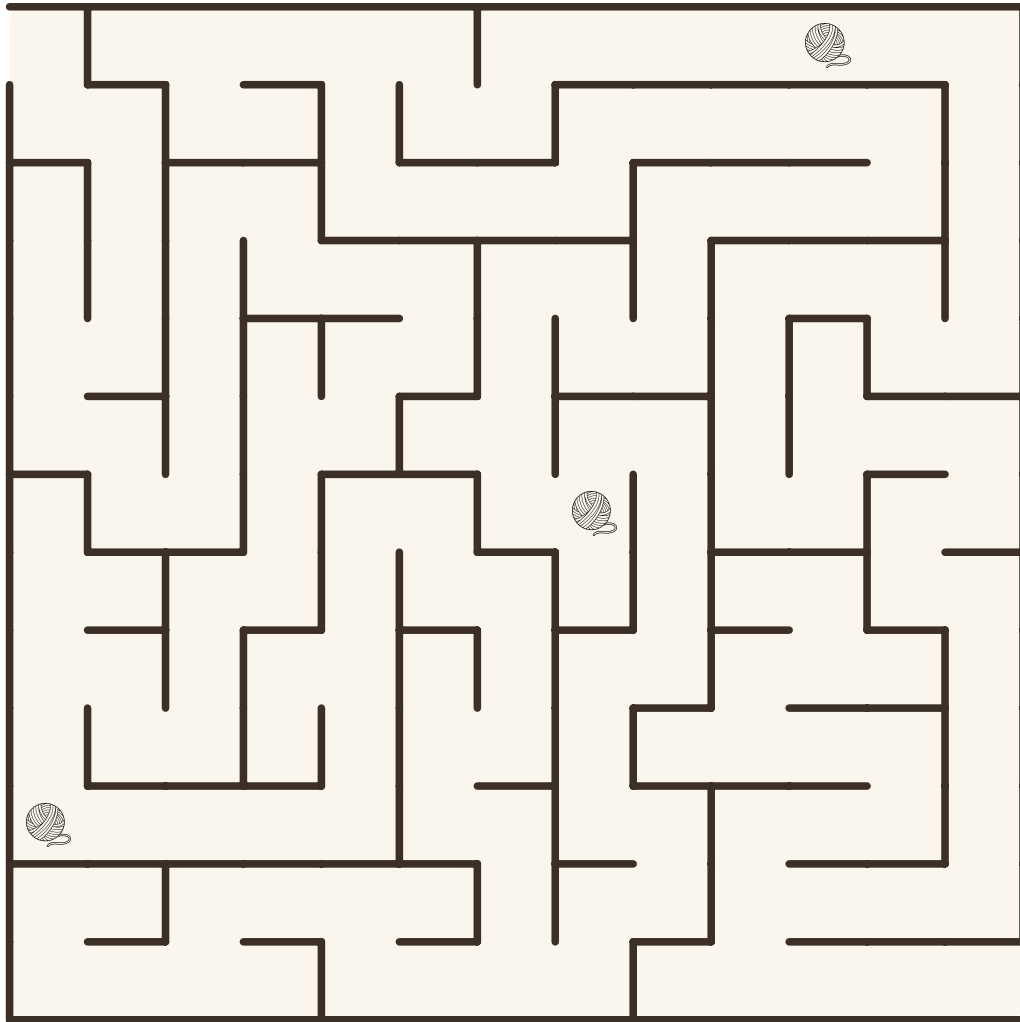

Hard maze: cat and ball

Take the cat to the ball. Collect three balls of yarn on the way and don't cross the black lines.

Recommended age: 6–8 years · mazes

Name _____

Date _____

The cat goes to play with the ball. Collect three balls of yarn on the way.

Tip for parents: Of the hard mazes, give the child this one first. If they finish it inside ten minutes, move on to the fire truck. Print two copies: one for trying, one for the clean route.
