

The whole alphabet and numbers

Trace the letters and numbers you know. Keep them between the lines.

Recommended age: 5–6 years · letter tracing

Name _____

Date _____

The whole alphabet and the numbers 0–9. Trace the ones you know.

Tip for parents: The sheet works twice over: once as handwriting practice and once as a chart where the child hunts for letters by sound ("find what SCHOOL starts with"). Use a pencil rather than a crayon – it fits a small box better. If the child writes numbers backwards, point at the starting dot instead of saying it is wrong; the dot fixes most of it.

From a big box to a small one

The same letters, each row smaller. Work from the top down.

Recommended age: 5–6 years · letter tracing

Name _____

The same letters from a big box down to a small one. Each row smaller than the one above.

Tip for parents: Go top to bottom, don't skip rows. If the last row is too small, stop at the third – size can be trained later, while a stiff hand takes a long time to loosen. Seven minutes is plenty for this sheet; after that it only undoes what went well.

Words line by line

Trace the word and finish the row on your own. Keep the letters between the lines.

Recommended age: 5–6 years · letter tracing

Name _____

Date _____

Finish the whole word first, then go back for the marks above the letters.

HOUSE

WINTER

FLOWER

FRIEND

WATER

Tip for parents: Spacing matters more here than neatness: show that a finger fits between two words. Split the long words in half and write them in two goes, so the child doesn't stop in the middle. If the letters wobble above the line, put one sheet of paper underneath – a firm surface steadies the grip.

First and last name

The first row is a first name, the second a last name. Write yours below.

The model is in the first two rows. Write from the dot below.

EMMA

MILLER

The alphabet to look at — copy the letters from here:

A B C D E F G H I J K L M N
O P Q R S T U V W X Y Z

Tip for parents: A last name is longer and is usually the first thing a child gives up on – write it in pencil on the first empty row and let them trace it. Keep both names in capitals until school starts cursive. Keep the finished sheet and hand out the same one in three months; the difference is usually obvious at a glance.
